

Frequently Asked Questions

I am not used to posing, is that a problem?

- No problem, girl- I've got you covered! I will tweak everything to make it picture perfect. I do suggest practicing a sexy smile, a smoldering stare and a great smile in the mirror beforehand!

Can I bring a friend with me for moral support?

- Yes, definitely! You may bring one person with you, but any more than that will be too crowded for the studio.

Is there anything else I should do to prep for my photos?

- Plan out what you are bringing and if there are large or long tags (in underwear especially) I recommend cutting them off, as they can be hard to hide.

Can I bring some liquid courage?

- Yes, you may! Just be sure to bring your own drinkware and no drinking and driving away, please 😊

How long until I get to see my photos?

- I typically will have your photos uploaded to your personal gallery within one week. All photos uploaded to the gallery will be initial edits and any photos you choose for your final product(s) will be edited to remove flaws if you desire.

Do I have to get naked?

- I always leave it up to my clients to decide their comfort level on what they want to wear, or in this case, not wear! We won't do anything you are not comfortable, and don't worry, I've seen it all- plus I've got it, too!

Does Kelsey provide any accessories to wear?

- I do have a plain, floor length veil I let clients use. I also have a pair of size 8.5 red heels that you are more than welcome to use, as well.

I look forward to seeing you for your session! If you have any questions, please call/text or email!

Be sure to go to my Pinterest page for ideas and inspiration, let me know what you like/do not like!

<https://www.pinterest.com/kelseyhouchenphoto/boudoir/>